

Brainstorm Questions

Information Process: Activating and Engaging

PROCESS

- Define the subject.
- Give everyone a minute or two to think.
- Invite members to call out questions.
- A member records questions on a flip chart.
- Categorize the questions and determine what information is necessary and how it might be gathered.

ALTERNATIVES

- Use paired conversations for think time.
- Have the work done in pairs or small groups.
- Precede the activity with dialogue.

TIPS

- Explain that generating questions can illuminate the group's work.
