

Ranking

Decisions

PROCESS

- Distribute 10 option slips to each member.
- Each member labels options A, B, C, and so on.
- Each member ranks options according to personal preference, 10 = high, 1 = low.
- Gather all the slips and separate according to letter.
- Add up the numerical values for each letter.
- Post the result on a flip chart.

ALTERNATIVES

- Ask subgroups to tally the papers.

TIPS

- This is time-consuming but very useful when groups have limited trust in the facilitator, themselves, or the process.
- This can be used for groups as large as 50.
- This provides a more exact ranking than the Rule of One-Third.
